

Global Citizen has helped these global citizens improve their HK experience.

Here is what they say about us:

"The courses are well-designed and the teachers are always helpful."

- Olga, from Russia

"Just 1 hour a week and now I can order food, take a taxi... and do so much more in Cantonese!"

- Catherine, from Canada

"I had wished to find classes like these for a long time."

- Kiriko, from Japan

"A fun and practical place to learn a language."

- Petunia, from India

"All of us think it is important to speak more languages. The most challenging part of language learning is to accumulate vocabulary, which can sometimes be time-consuming and hence discouraging for beginners. Global Citizen's innovative online language tool, the Bilingualizer can virtually eliminate time spent on a dictionary by freely translating between 40 languages available, complete with a fully animated audio function."

French Chamber of Commerce

"The challenge many expats face in Hong Kong is as much with the language as it is with the culture and this is something no other language school is offering out there. The classroom experience is not merely about learning the language, but the exchange of cultures, and having fun in the process."

HipHongKong.com

"With more than 80 pleasant and well-trained teachers, Global Citizen provides customized training in 20 languages, a definite attraction to both corporate and personal clients."

International Radio, Europe1

"If you want to learn a language, be sure about your goals. Also, I believe that regularity is essential, especially for Chinese. So instead of going to a three-hour Mandarin class once a week, you should probably spend 15-20 minutes every day. I would also encourage learning in smaller groups as it is often easier for the teacher to adjust to the students' objectives and learning pace."
